How a sale works

1. Pick a drink

Up to two drinks on the touchscreen, at the prices you set.

2. Scan an ID

The scanner validates the barcode on the back, then images the photo on the front, and the camera checks the guest matches it before payment opens.

3. Tap to pay

Contactless cards and phone wallets. Design target: about 20 seconds from first tap to can at the port.

4. Pick it up

An internal lift lowers the can to the pickup port. The card is charged when it arrives.

Included with every machine

DrinkDock Manager

Sales by the hour, stock by selection, restock texts, staff controls and a compliance log.

Two connections

Wi-Fi with built-in LTE backup. Fails closed if power, both networks, scanner or payments drop out.

Install

About an hour once the spot is ready, by DrinkDock. No plumbing. Staff walkthrough included.

Ways to get one

Lease

24- and 36-month terms. Install, Manager, service and warranty included.

Event rental

One or Compact, per machine per day within 30 miles of Philadelphia, for indoor cash bars and ticketed events. Planned after the pilot.

Staff controls

Two drinks per ID scan (always on), 20-minute wait per ID, block an ID until close from its sale, instant pause, hours locked to your license.

Pilot support

Remote monitoring, and one of our team on call by phone through your service hours.

PLCB review

Before install we request a written PLCB advisory opinion for your venue's setup.

Purchase

Own the hardware, with volume pricing for 3 or more machines. Manager as a monthly subscription.

You keep the revenue

Your venue is the merchant of record. Sales settle nightly, minus card processing.

Pricing on request. Now forming our first Philadelphia pilot.
